- A Guide to Your First Visit
- Q-Link Phone Directory

Getting Started

You will find Q-Link very easy to use. You don't have to memorize any complicated commands or keywords; instead, all you have to do is select options from Q-Link's colorful, easy-to-understand online menus. If you ever have a question or a problem, help is available online (we have a team of Q-GUIDEs and Q-HELPerS ready to help you) or by phone (our Customer Service department is open every day until 1:00 a.m. Eastern Time).

Q-Link is available from 6:00 p.m. until 7:00 a.m. (local time) weekdays and 24 hours on weekends and major holidays.

A Guide to Your First Visit to Q-Link

1. Set Up Your Equipment

- Plug in your modem (if you don't yet own a modem, see your computer dealer or call Q-Link Customer Service at 1-800-392-8200).
- Properly connect your computer, disk drive, and monitor.
- Place the Q-Link template over the function keys (F1, F3, etc.).

2. Load your Q-Link Disk

If you own a Commodore 64® :

- Turn on your computer, disk drive and monitor
- Insert the Q-Link program disk into your disk drive
- When you see READY on your screen, type:
LOAD" *",8,1 (and press RETURN)

If you own a Commodore 128® :

- Turn on your computer, disk drive and monitor
- Make sure your computer is turned off
- Insert the Q-Link program disk into your disk drive
- Turn on your computer
- Your disk drive will automatically load Q-Link (no typng is needed)

3. Take A Guided Tour

After the Q-Link disk has loaded, you will be asked what you would like to do. You should select "See preview of Q-Link," which is an off-line demonstration of some of the services and features available on Q-Link. After the brief tour ends, you should then select "Connect to Q-Link."

4. Enter Your Access Information

You will be asked to enter the following information once, then it will be stored on your disk:

- type of modem you are using
- type of phone system (touch tone or pulse)
- local access number

To determine your local access number, check the listings in this guide. When typing in your local number, be sure to include the special symbol (either a “/”, “+”, or “!”) that precedes the number.

NOTE: If you ever want to change your access information to reflect a different modem or phone number, you can do so by running a program stored on the Q-Link program side of your disk. Type “CHANGE ACCESS”,8,1 (and press RETURN).

5. Connect to Q-Link and Register

After you've entered your access information, select “Sign on to Q-Link” and press F1. If your equipment is properly connected and you have an auto-dial modem, you will be automatically connected to Q-Link. If you have a manual dial modem, follow the instructions on your screen. Once you're connected, you will be asked to enter additional information, including:

- the number on the enclosed “Special Introductory Offer” coupon
- your billing information
- your name and address, so we can send you our monthly newsletter

6. Welcome Aboard!

After you register, you'll be ready to explore the system. We recommend that you make PEOPLE CONNECTION your first stop, as you'll find plenty of fellow users ready to chat, play a game, or answer your questions.

You will also be ready to take a look at the Quantum Link Users' Guide you received with your software.

IF YOU HAVE ANY PROBLEMS, CALL CUSTOMER SERVICE:

1-800-392-8200

(Canadians call 1-703-883-0788)

Follow-Up Visits to Q-Link

The information you entered during your first visit to Q-Link is saved, so you do not need to enter it again. On subsequent visits, all you need to do is load the Q-Link software:

- Insert the Q-Link program side of your disk into your disk drive
- When you see READY on your screen, type:
LOAD “*”8,1 (and then press RETURN)

You will then be connected to Q-Link.

NOTE: You cannot make a copy of your Q-Link disk once you have registered it. It will void your account information and you will be unable to use the account again.

How to Disconnect from Q-Link

When you are finished with your online session and would like to sign off, return to the Department menu by pressing f7 and select “Sign Off.” Or, turn off the modem to hang up.

U.S. Local Access Numbers

You connect to QuantumLink through local access numbers available in more than 600 U.S. cities. When you are initially registering your disk, you will be asked to enter the access number in your area from the list below. Depending on the number you select, you will need to include either a plus (+) symbol for Telenet or a slash (/) symbol for Tymnet. This symbol should be entered in front of the local number, just as it is listed in this directory (example: /999-9999).

After your modem connects you to the local access number, you will be instantly linked to QuantumLink through a nationwide data network such as Telenet or Tymnet. The data network costs are included in the Quantum-Link rates.

As long as the number you select is in your local calling area, it will be handled by your phone company as a local call. If you have flat rate telephone service, there will be no extra charge; if you have measured unit service, you will be charged message units, just like you would for any local call.

If your city is not listed, please call QuantumLink Customer Service at 1-800-392-8200.

Canadian Datapac Access Numbers

There is a 15¢/(U.S.)/minute ($9.00/hour) communications surcharge to connect to QuantumLink through Datapac.

When entering your local access number, you must enter the exclamation symbol (!) before entering the number, as a "!" symbol informs the Q-Link access software to use the Datapac sign-on procedure.

If you have any questions or problems, you can call Q-Link Customer Service at 1-703-883-0788.
